Explain why an event from the past is significant.	Explain the cause and effect of a significant historical event.	Explain in detail the multiple causes and effects of a significant historical event.	Explain why an aspect of world history is significant.	Present a detailed historical narrative about a significant global event.
Knowledge	Knows that other children do not always enjoy the same things, and is sensitive to this. Knows about similarities and differences between themselves and others, and among families, communities, cultures and traditions.	Significant historical events include those that cause great change for large numbers of people. Key features of significant historical events include the date it happened, the people and places involved and the consequences of the event.	Significant events affect the lives of many people over a long period of time and are sometimes commemorated. For example, Armistice Day is commemorated every year on 11th November to remember the end of the First World War.	The causes of a significant event are the things that make the event happen and directly lead up to the event. The consequences of a significant event happen after the event and can be short-term, such as people being killed in a battle, or long-term, such as the change in language and society after an invasion.	Every significant historical event has a cause or a number of causes, such as the need for power and wealth, retaliation for past wrongs, the need to improve quality of life or the occurrence of natural disasters, such as earthquakes. The consequences are the outcomes of an event, such as changes in power, people being killed or displaced during war, improvements in quality of life or damage and destruction from a natural disaster.	Aspects of history are significant because they had an impact on a vast number of people, are remembered and commemorated or influence the way we live today.	Historical narratives can describe long- and short-term causes and consequences of an event; highlight the actions of significant individuals and explain how significant events caused great change over time.

Skills		Create stories, pictures and role play about historical events, people and periods.	Present historical information in a simple non-chronological report, fact file, story or biography.	Make choices about the best way to present historical accounts and information.	Present a thoughtful selection of relevant information in a historical report or in-depth study.	Explore the validity of a range of historical reports and use books, technology and other sources to check accuracy.	Think critically, weigh evidence, sift arguments and present a perspective on an aspect of historical importance.
Knowledge		Stories, pictures and role play are used to help people learn about the past, understand key events and empathise with historical figures.	Historical information can be presented in a variety of ways. For example, in a non-chronological report, information about a historical topic is presented without organising it into chronological order.	Historical information can be presented as a narrative, non-chronological report, fact file, timeline, description, reconstruction or presentation.	Relevant historical information can be presented as written texts, tables, diagrams, captions and lists.	Sources of historical information can have varying degrees of accuracy, depending on who wrote them, when they were written and the	Sources of historical information should be read critically to prove or disprove a historically valid idea by setting the report into the
